Dear Parent / Guardian,

I am writing to inform you of a series of incidents that happened this week.

On Tuesday night Mrs Noctor and Mrs Cooper were verbally abused during phone conversations with a parent. The abuse and aggression became so intolerable that Mrs Noctor had to put the phone down (something she has never done before).

The following day Mr O'Brien and Mrs Noctor suffered personal abusive remarks on social media. These were posted by four parents. The abuse was so disgusting that it has now become a Police matter. Mr O'Brien and Mrs Noctor have received legal advice and are considering their next steps.

I spent three days dealing with this incident. Is this what parents want me to do? I am here, as are all staff to provide the highest standard of education for our children.

Myself and my staff are sick and tired of dealing with nuisance social media postings from parents who have nothing better to do.

Can I remind parents that incidents such as these will not be tolerated and I will continue to involve the Police if I, the school or a member of staff is called into disrepute.

I expect your total support in this matter.

Mr J. O'Brien
Headteacher
